

How providing development opportunities can better prepare your emerging talent

As a manager, you have a responsibility to ensure your emerging talent is well-prepared to take on a management role. This means providing them with the opportunities and support they need to develop their skills and confidence. Here are some ways you can do this:

Be clear when delegating tasks.	It's important to be clear when delegating tasks to your emerging talent. This means providing them with the necessary information and resources to complete the task successfully. Delegation is a key skill for managers, and it's essential to ensure that your team members are clear on what is expected of them. What can help: Delegation, Leadership, Management, Teamwork
Develop your leadership style.	Developing your leadership style is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means understanding your own strengths and weaknesses, and how they can be used to lead your team effectively. Leadership is a skill that can be developed, and it's essential to have a clear understanding of your own style. What can help: Leadership, Management
Strengthen your presentation skills.	Strengthening your presentation skills is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means being able to communicate your ideas clearly and effectively to your team. Presentation skills are essential for managers, and it's important to have a strong understanding of how to present your ideas. What can help: Delegation, Leadership, Management, Communication
Be prepared when leading teams.	Being prepared when leading teams is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means understanding the needs of your team and how to lead them effectively. Leading teams is a skill that can be developed, and it's essential to have a strong understanding of your own team. What can help: Communication
Build your confidence before leading a management task.	Building your confidence before leading a management task is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means understanding your own strengths and weaknesses, and how they can be used to lead your team effectively. Confidence is a key skill for managers, and it's essential to have a strong understanding of your own abilities. What can help: Leadership
Be better prepared for taking on a management role.	Being better prepared for taking on a management role is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means understanding the needs of your team and how to lead them effectively. Being prepared is a key skill for managers, and it's essential to have a strong understanding of your own team. What can help: Delegation, Leadership, Management, Teamwork, Communication

